DIDN'T PICK OUT THE MAN. PAILURE AT AN IMPORTANT POINT IN THE LATTIMER TRIAL.

Star Witness Who Asserted That He Say sheriff Mariis and Two Deputies Shoot at piccies Miners Makes a Moss of It in At-tempting to Identify One of the Deputies.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 9.-Much stress has been laid by those who are prejudging the case of the Commonwealth against Sheriff Martin and his deputies, on trial for killing the Lattimer miners, upon the identifications by Hungarians and Polish witnesses of the deputies present at the Lattimer shooting by picking them out in the courtroom. Even although atleged unfair means are resorted to to bring this about, as was asserted to-day, the prosecution has had very little success in the matter. Today the prosecution attempted to have one of the deputies pointed out by a witness. Accompanied by the District Attorney, John M. Garman, Mr. Lenahan of the defence and the ste mographer, the witness was led along the seats occupied by the deputies. He peered into their faces and finally, slapping one of them on the shoulder, exclaimed:

"This is the man!" The prosecution was not at all satisfied, for the man selected by the witness was not the one that the prosecution wanted identified.

"Your Honor," said the District Attorney then addressing the Court, "the man we have in mind has left the courtroom and we ask persaion to repeat our attempt at identification when he returns."

Mr. Lenahan protested vigorously that the attempt at identification had been made and falled, and that another should not be allowed. He was overruled, however, and when the deputy in question had returned to the court-

He was overruled, however, and when the deputy in question had returned to the courtroom the attempt at identification was tried all over again. It was a signal failure, and although the witness went up and down and all around the benches occuped by the deputies and scrutinized ther faces carefully, he finally gave it up and said that he could not recognize the man.

Subsequently A. E. Hess, the deputy in question, said to THE SUN correspondent that he had seen Mr. Garman trying to point him out to the searching witness, builthe man was too stupid to follow the movements of Mr. Garman's index finger as they walked along the rows of seated deputies.

When court opened this morning Judge Woodward told the jurors that if they should receive any letters containing any reference to the trial at cause, they should hand them over to the District Attorney. John Yourshekowisz was the first witness of the day. His testimony as to the occurrences at West Hazleton differed in no wise from that offered 1 by other; witnesses except in that he saidthat Deputy A. P. Platt was the man who tore the flag out of the hands of the striker carrying it. The witness picked out Mr. Platt among the deputies in the court room. At Lattimer the witness saw the Eheriff with a revolver, and saw him point it at a striker. In company with others, the witness then started to run away. When he got about fifteen yards away from the line of shooting deputies a bullet passed through his soft felt hat. The witness produced the hat and it was put in evidence.

On cross-examination the witness said that the reason so many men, at most 500, had gone to Lattimer to induce the men at work there to join the strikers instead of a small committee, was that if only two or three went they would be discharged by the company.

But "asked Mr. Lenahan "the men working"

be discharged by the company.
"But,"asked Mr. Lenahan "the men working at Harwood were on strike, were they not?"
"Well, they had been stopped by the McAdoo men."

Oh, they had been stopped by the McAdoo men, and you wanted to do the same thing to the Lattiner people?"
"No, just talk to them."
"And if you could not make them come out, you would go back to work?"

"Yes, sir."

John Juako, a Magyar, the next witness, was asked on cross-examination if he did not have a stene in his hand at West Hazleton, and threaten the deputies, and if that was not the reason why they thrashed him! He said no, which caused Mr. Paimer to exclaim:

"Oh, why den't you tell the truth and acknowledge you had a stone in your hand!"

John Andreosky was called to the stand. His testimony was the most sensational so far given at the trial. He was asked whether the strikers had any weapons when they marched to Lattimer, and replied simply, "None, save God," and then went on to say to questions put to him by the District Attorney in reference to the occurrences at Lattimer:

"The first shot was in the air and came from the vicinity of the schoolhouse. Then came a volley, and I threw myself on the ground near a water pipe running under the tracks of the electric car. When the first volley was over I looked up and saw the Sheriff and two men step out of the ranks of the deputies, and I beard the tall, thin man call out to a man who was running away. Tome back or I'll fix you. Then the two men raised their guns and fired two or three times at the men running away."

"Do you know, who the tall, thin man was?" aked Mr. Martin. "No. I do not."

"Do you think you could identify him among the deputies here?"

"I will try," replied the witness.

The first attempt, as referred to above, was then made. The witness picked out Deputy Frank Clark. This was not the right man, and the second attempt, as has been said, was made, and also failed signally. Mr. Palmer then proceeded to cross-examine the witness, but before he had gone very far the time for adjourn-Jusko, a Magyar, the next eded to cross-exami fore he had gone very far the time for adjournment had arrived.

WAS HE TAPPING A WIRE?

ctures as to What Electrician McDowe Was Drive When He Was Killed. Work on the sidewalk in front of the Com mercial building at 42 Broadway, under which occurred the cave-in that killed Electrician Winfield S. McDowell on Tuesday, afternoon, was begun yesterday morning. The cave-in in no way affected the stability of the building, but it undermined the walk, and John V. B. Clark son, the agent of the building, had the danger ous portion blocked off and the flagging taker up preparatory to filling in the hole. It is be lieved by most of the tenants that the purpo lleved by most of the tenants that the purpose of McDowell's, tunnelling through the retaining wall, at which he was engaged when the cave-in occurred, and driving a two-inch steel pipe toward the electric subway was to tap the electric wires in the subway. There are a number of places in the vicinity which have been raided as bucket rhops.

Mr. Clarkson said yestorday that a man could easily get into the sub-cellar, where the work was done, but it was hard to understand how he could hammer a steel tube into the wall without being heard by the janiter or the engineer. If any collusion is discovered the guilty man will be instantly discharged, and investigation is now going on.

Janitor McCain and Engineer Peck, who pulled the body out from the sand, both declare that they knew nothing of McDowell being in the place. McDowell was an expert diseasen and lived at 200 Clarkson street, Brooklyn, He VINNIE E. HARRISON ARRESTED She Is Accused of Retaining Funds Belongt: to the United Friends.

Mrs. Vinnie E. Harrison, the Treasurer of Mizpah Council 164, Order of United Friends, was arraigned yesterday in the Lee Avenue Police Court, Williamsburg, on the charge of wrongfully retaining $459.38 belonging to the order. She is a widow, 35 years old, and lives with her mother at 155 Eagle street. Two years ago she was chosen Tressurer of the council. Since July last it is alleged that she has been in arrears with her payments to the Imperial Council. The Financial Secretary claims that he has paid over to her $990.85, of claims that he has paid over to her $990.85, of which she has turned over to the Imperial Treasurer only $531.47. A month ago the Imperial Council suspended Mispah Council, and then Jos. R. Chamberlain, Grand Counsellor of the supended organization, obtained a warrant for hor arrest. She was arrested yesterday at her home, and when arraigned in court she declared that no demand had ever been made upon her for the money. She said that the funds were in the hands of a banking firm in this borough.

Mrs. Harrison exuressed a willingness to settle the indebtedness at once. Justice Kramer directed that the money be put into the custody of the court, and then held Mrs. Harrison in $1,000 bail for a hearing. Bail was furnished and she was released.
